DETAILED ACTION

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 112

The following is a quotation of the second paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall conclude with one or more claims particularly pointing out and distinctly claiming the subject matter which the applicant regards as his invention.

Claims 1-29 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, second paragraph, as being indefinite for failing to particularly point out and distinctly claim the subject matter which applicant regards as the invention.

Regarding claim 1, the expression "capable of producing a Schulz-Flory of less than about 0.8" makes the claim indefinite since it is unclear this capability would function in the claimed process or not. Further, it is unclear which organometallic catalysts have this characteristics.

The terms "Brookhart type", "NiBBIM" and "SHOP" make claim 17, 21, 24, and 27 is indefinite since these terms may be tradenames and "type" is unacceptable in patent claims.

Claims 21, 22, 24, and 27 are indefinite since the catalysts recited in these claims are not positively selected to use for the claimed process.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

Art Unit: 1764

The factual inquiries set forth in Graham v. John Deere Co., 383 U.S. 1, 148 USPQ 459 (1966), that are applied for establishing a background for determining obviousness under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) are summarized as follows:

1. Determining the scope and contents of the prior art.
2. Ascertaining the differences between the prior art and the claims at issue.
3. Resolving the level of ordinary skill in the pertinent art.
4. Considering objective evidence present in the application indicating obviousness or nonobviousness.

This application currently names joint inventors. In considering patentability of the claims under 35 U.S.C. 103(a), the examiner presumes that the subject matter of the various claims was commonly owned at the time any inventions covered therein were made absent any evidence to the contrary. Applicant is advised of the obligation under 37 CFR 1.56 to point out the inventor and invention dates of each claim that was not commonly owned at the time a later invention was made in order for the examiner to consider the applicability of 35 U.S.C. 103(c) and potential 35 U.S.C. 102(e), (f) or (g) prior art under 35 U.S.C. 103(a).

Claims 1-29 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as obvious over Dunn (3,558,738).

Dunn disclose using an organo-nickel catalyst for catalyzing a mixture of reactants including ethylene and others 1-olefins such as butene-1 under the applicants' claimed condition of pressure and temperature to produce hexene(s) (the abstract; col. 1, lines 56-65; col. 2, line 17 thru col. 4, line 70).

Dunn appears to be silent as to (1) the Schulz-Flory value of the catalyst, (2) a stoichiometric excess of the terminal olefin and ethylene in the feed, (3) a support for the catalyst, (4) an unspecified activator (review the above 112 rejection of claims 21, 22, 24, and 27).

However, the Duun catalyst is a nickel-organo catalyst which is expected to be of producing Schulz-Flory as claimed by applicants since Dunn's catalyst is also an organometallic catalyst.

Since the concentration of reactants must be selected according to the desired product, it would have been obvious to one having ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention was made to have modified the Dunn's process by selecting appropriate concentrations for each reactants so that the desired product can be obtained. Further, it has been held by the patent law that the selection of reaction parameters such as temperature and concentration would have been obvious. More particularly, where the general conditions of the claimed are disclosed in the prior art, it is not inventive to discover the optimum or workable ranges by routine experimentation. In re Aller 105 USPQ 233, 255 (CCPA 1955). In re Waite 77 USPQ 586 (CCPA 1948). In re Scherl 70 USPQ 204 (CCPA 1946). In re Irmischer 66 USPQ 314 (CCPA 1945). In re Norman 66 USPQ 308 (CCPA 1945). In re Swenson 56 USPQ 372 (CCPA 1942). In re Sola 25 USPQ 433 (CCPA 1935). In re Dreyfus 24 USPQ 52 (CCPA 1934).

It would have been obvious to one having ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention was made to have modified the Dunn's process by using a support for the catalyst such as silica since it is expected that supports as inert material would not affect the reaction.

The claimed unspecified activator is indistinguishable from others also present in the reactor such as organoaluminum compound (see the abstract).
